

A NEW METHOD TO RECONSTRUCT THE ENERGY AND MASS OF PRIMARY COSMIC RAY PARTICLES BY EAS MEASUREMENTS

E.G. Boos (1), I.A. Lebedev (1), G. Heinzelmann (2), A. Lindner (2) and A. Röhning (2)

(1) Institute of Physics and Technology, Almaty, Kazakhstan, (2) II. Institut für Experimentalphysik, Universität Hamburg, Germany.

A method is described to determine the energy and mass of primary cosmic rays by measuring N_e for each shower at detection level and after an additional absorber of e.g. 100 gr/cm². The simulations have been performed with the CORSIKA program.